Rebels Down C-P Panthers 98-75

The Appomattox Rebels having one of their best games in quite a long time, shot over 50% from the floor, beat the Carver-Price Panthers 98-75 last Wednesday night in a Group II, District IV basketball game in the Rebels gym.

The game was full of fouls and turnovers as the Rebels trailed only one time during the contest. The Panthers took a 2-0 lead, then the score was 2-2 and 3-2 favor Carver-Price before the Rebels caught hold. They ripped off three quick baskets before C-P scored again and had a 21-16 first quarter lead. Carver-Price came within three points and four points during the second quarter, but ended up at the half 12 down as the Rebels held a 45-33 lead. In the third and fouth quarter the Rebels continued to lead the way as Kenneth Hawkins and Sammy Page led the way before the reserves finished. The score was 73-53 after three quarters.

The Rebels had four men in double figures with Kenneth Hawkins and Sammy Page leading the way. Hawkins had 28 points, on eight field goals and 12 of 14 free throws. Page had 23 points before fouling out, coming on eight, field goals and seven of 13 free throws. The other two Rebels in double figures were Bruce Norconk and Plicky Williams, Both had 13 points apiece with Norconk getting eight of his and Williams five of his in the first quarter to lead the attack.

Carver-Price also had four men in to hit double figures with Barry Dillard and Garrett each finishing up with 20 apiece, Dave Johnson and Welton Gafford had 14 and 10 points, respectively.

There was 55 fouls called in the game, 31 on the Rebels and 24 on the Panthers. The two teams combined for over 40 turnovers, with the Rebels getting most of them. The Rebels hit on 37 of about 70 shots, good for over 50% from the floor while C-P hit on 25 of about 71 shots. The Rebels held a slight edge in rebounds.

The win was the third in 10 starts for the Rebels and the second time they have beat the Panthers, Carver-Price is now winless in nine starts.

The 98 points was the most scored by a Rebel team in quite a few years. In the last couple of minutes it looked like they would go over the century mark but a few turnovers and some missed foul shots in the last few seconds kept them from hitting the mark.

A couple of reserves, Steve Marshall and Ricky Martin, played real well in the last half as they scored seven and six points, respectively.

In the J.V. game, Carver-Price edged the Rebels J.V. team 66-59 in a thriller down to the last few seconds.
